Entertained at the Club.

The members of the Decatur Club royally entertained their lady friends last night with duplicate whist, a game which was introduced last night for the first time. Eleven tables were in use throughout the evening. The game is not intri cate, and the play is very rapid. On each table is a pasteboard crossed by two straps and under which are slipped four whist hands. There is an arrow and the person to whom it points does the leading Each player retains his or her hand and when the first play is finished the hands are slipped back under the straps and the parties move on to the next table. Count is kept with chips and ord is announced. When the players return to their original tables the card board has been turned and the arrow points to a new leader. Then the second series is played as before. The prize winners last evening were Mrs. H C

THE BONDRARE INDUSTRY. Decatur Claims a New Factory: It's a Good One.

As has been announced in our column Mr. L. S. Bonbrake, of Waynasburg, Ohio, who is the inventor of a large line of hardware specialties, has for some time been in correspondence with some of our citizens in regard to the location f a new factory in this city. Mr. Bonbrake, in search of a location, went to Davenport and Burlington, Iowa, also to Omaha and Lincoln, Neb. At Burlingon the business men who locked into the matter, at once raised the money, 88.000.00, which Mr. Bonbrake asked. The result of his travels, however, satiscity of Decatur as a manfactura distributing point. So before considering the propositions of other places he wrote to James Freeman to whom a traveling man had referred him, sending to him some facts in regard to the proposed business. Mr. Freeman handed the papers to J. M. Clokey, who at once entered into correspondence with Mr. Bonbrake. Mr. Clokey requested John A. Brown to take hold of the matter, who, after investigating the business, de cided that he would become a stockholder himself, and at once asked the Thayer Brothers to join him in the enterprise which they decided to do. Mr. Bon brake at once came to Decatur, was pleased with the city, and yesterday the contract into by which it was agreed that | further arrests may follow the Decatur Steel Roofing and Corrugating company should at once be incorporated, with a capital stock of $25,000, of which L. S. Bonbrake takes one-fifth and James Thayer and Stephen Thayer the other four-fitths.

The goods to be manufactured wil consist of the Bonbrake patent ates. roofing, considered by good indges the best roof in the market, and the coming roof for all purposes. Also corrugated iron siding of all sizes and grades. new line of ceiling goods, and a metalic paint for same. The Bonbrake patent oil onn, eaves-troughs, in ten foot lengths from one piece of metal, the best gutter on the market, Eaves-trough hangers, elbowe, ornamental cornish and window caps; nested stove pipe in four loot lengths, also putented, together with many other articles in general use. The factory will start with twenty men in the shop shd four or more men on the road but it is regarded as a certainty, from the well-known business capacity of the men who have it in hand, that it will grand levelop into one of our larger factories vithin a short time. There are eleven of these factories in Ohio, all successful and some of them employing as many as The firm will erect buildings antable to their wants as soon as possible At present they desire to start in rented quarters, and here Mr. Bonbrake has met wit a difficulty that he has not encountered at other places. There are no empty buildings in Deca tur. The other cities visited had empty places in abundance. Yesterday two of our leading business men offered to build at once such buildings as the company wanted and rent them to the company ner of North Water and Green streets, The location for the works is not yet decided upon.

> The location of this plant has been secured without one cent of bonus. It don. has come to Decator first because of the ond, because of the persistent efforts of J. M. Clokev and John A. Brown. Let the good work go on. In 1891 Milwanke Wis., secured by the persevering efforts of its citizens 16 new factories at an ex nense of only $4000. Decator should in 1892 obtain half as many, among which should be a best-sugar factory. The board of trade is now in correspondence with other enterprises which desire to locate here. Let them come.

TOLD ALL ABOUT IT.

Ada Moore at the Home of He Brother and Sister at Weldon.

Attorney A. H. Mills arrived home today noon from Weldon, in DeWitt county, at which town at the home of Phomas Ayres, he succeeded vesterday in ocating Miss Ada Moore, the young lady and one half miles east of Decatur. for whom the authorities have been earching since Monday. She is the woman in the Franklin house abortion case, who fled from Decatur Monday afternoon to Oisco, where she remained intil Wednesday morning, when she left in a close carriage for the Avres place. at Weldon. Mr. Mulls visited Cisco yesterday to find Miss Moore gone. He went over to Weldon, and it was arranged turin center and its value as to have Miss Moore taken to the home of her brother, George Moore, There Mr. Mills had an interview with her yesterday, and got a full etstement from her. implicating Dr. Ira Pace, who is now at liberty under $2,000 bail for abortion. He furnished four bondsmen last evening at 6 o'clock-W. H. Taylor, John Pace, Uriah Hunt and C. E. Pace, all of Weldon. Dr. Pace left this city last night with his prothers and friends. Miss Moore, in her statement, does not withhold any of the details. She tells when she came to Decatur and her experience at the Franklin house with Dr. Pace. It is rumored that there are other parties connected with the affair, and that Miss Moore appears to be in a fair state of bealth. She is able to be up, and walks about the house. The present grand jury will give the case a thorough investigation. TROUBLE. Mr. Mills did not have an easy time of it getting to see Miss Moore. He learned that Miss Moore had been taken in carriage from Cisco by Mr. Miles and Thomas Ayres and as he had a strong letter of introduction to Ayree asking him to assist in the search, Mr. Mills did not anticipate any trouble, but he had plenty of it. Mr. Avres said be could not tell where the girl was, and Mr. Miles could only state that Miss Moore had been left at the home of her sister. She had been there but later went to ! the Avres place. The brothers and sis ters of the girl, as well as Mr. Ayres, refused to let Mr. Mills interview her. And finally the attorney remarked that he would bring the whole family to county and before jury. This implied threat caused further consultation among the relatives and friends of the gir!, which caused the sisters and brothers to agree that Mr. Mills might see Ade. Two brothers went to the Ayres place, but Mr. Ayres refused to admit them. Later, just before dark anothe WHE made to gan attempt adminttance. It was ful. One of the brothers of the girl is a constable. Mr. Mills gave him a grand jury summons, and with that paper b zained entrance to the house, and Miss Moore was taken from the Ayers place to the home of her sister. Then the interview was had. Mr. Mills never had busier day or a time calling for so many scheming expedients to gain his purpos than he experienced yesterday at Wel-

All of the guests bad started for home All of the guests had started for home at 8 o'clock, when Officer Leech, his sister and a child got into a sleigh to come to Decatur. It was a borrowed cutter and was all right going out. The horse had gone but a short distance when the rungone but a short distance when the run-ners flattened out, and the party were left in the road 3½ miles from home. But Officer Leech would not give up. He reached Mr. Logan's house, and by using halter strape the runners were at-tached to the body of the cutter, the hidy and the child were put in and then Mr. Leech leat the horse all the way to Decatur. A Moonlight Skating Party. Since the ice on the river has frozen to a thickness which makes skating both delightful and safe against accidents there have been a number of parties who have enjoyed the sport, but the most delightful of all was the party which assembled on the river lust night, and spent the quarter part of the evening shating up and down the glassly surface. The young gentlemen in the party built fires on the banks, which proved very acceptable before the evening was over, for the night was very cold. Those who composed the party were Misses Ville, Mable and Bess Mills, Minme Bachman, Inllian Hanes, Mable Miller, Anna Cox, Mattie Faster, Mame Freeman, Emma Hord.
